TOP TIPS:

- Make a Disaster Supplies Kit being sure to remember medications and any pet care needs.
- Develop and review your family response plan.
- Include a communication or reunification plan if you are separated.
- Include out-of-state contact(s) for communicating should local phone systems fail.
- Get to know your neighbors and co-workers. They will be your greatest resource during a disaster.
- Emergency responders and resources will likely be overwhelmed for the first 72 hours or longer; take action steps now to prepare yourself and family to respond, recover and survive.
